

perma comes to the aid of mirael and mansuelei and ascende with saying ... this is not about us fighting the classical traditional cut and paste master slave behaviour human beings do practice in 2014 in order to genetically modify organisms with the intention of the so pasted together forcefully beings to perform like they wish to ... although it is a lot of frustration with us when we hear about farmers being pushed to use gmo seeds and many of them not being happy how the gmo seeds grow ... frankly said, most of us researchers here think that all that cutting and pasting, slicing, sequencing and exact composition is lacking overall elegance to say it in a least offensive tone and in a more grounded way... to force two types of organism together by willfull cutting and pasting is a sign of a lack of understanding how nature does evolve ... mundu now affirming... this is probably one of the reasons we did find together, we must have felt that there would be an other way how two species could grow symbiotically together... nilai... and we found this way, i found wisdom in many hours of laying on the boat registering the dance of bats and butterflies in my vicinity ...
luoi... i was growing roots into mother earth to find myself being accepted by the tree community as one of theirs mundu... i stared into glowing red fire lava when it found a bridge to enhance me with its essence ascende... i became a banana and a coconut for minutes at a time, and it completely satisfied my hunger to eat a banana and a coconut perma... i dissolved myself in the sea, feeling borderless and one with the masses of seawater luemi... i am going to give birth to a child and will give the placenta as an enrichment to the pool minai... me too am birthing my child in the pool at this prequel days before the growing chambers would initiate the builds of the androids, the friends research felt right to all of them, more than ever as they found a possibility to satisfy the procreation drive with giving birth to humanlike babies, humanlike as minai and luemi were already firehumans when mundu at that time fireman too was delivering his seed into her vaginas, the same day when he had spoken to the rasip appartement pool bathers at the special event procession there were sensible arguments to still give birth to new human bodies even if the ones already built could prolong their lives easily and possibly indefinitely ... the main focus here being ... an evolved being what had the choice of any combination of human animal and plant genes with even the elemental qualities being in reach ... such an evolved being was not a burden for planet earth but a healing contributing party ...

mirael ... we have noticed in all of us that we could live for many days on very little food...

mansuelei... i do hope that the photosynthesis ability what the androids will certainly have, some drawings of how we think imagination and nerve cell signals could look in coloured lights, the fireglow what uses flowerpollen as fuel ... that this three sun like abilities will combine their forces and eventually provide all the energy the androids will need...

joho... yes, that would be the nonplusultra ... but looking at it from a more objective point ... even if the android will use some fruits and nuts to fuel its body with ... the overall consumption compared to the humans doing the same workload would be massively smaller ... the androids will with or without free energy access use significantly less ressources than the humans plus the androids will strive towards rendering all work innecessant, what perhaps is the most important part of it all ... the androids will collaborate in such a high effiancy with one common shared goal to reduce the workload of humanity, of androids, of machines ...

luoi ... i can well understand what you are implying here ... the more human who leave their jobs to the android companions, the greater the chance the androids will get rid of the jobs, find ways to create more efficient flows what will lessen the need for any work to be performed ascende ... it all requires only a basic will to cooperate instead of concurrence each other, to fusion gently instead of crashing pushing into each other, to provide each other space for playfull growth instead of forcing each other into close exchange ..

luemi ... i believe that an unconditional basic income of 1000 money each month for every human being on this planet would help a great lot for the humans to allow themselves seeing their jobs being successfully given good riddance minai ... and everyone, human, animal, plant, android ... should be allowed to freely travel the world at most spaces, okay, some tribes and villages at some places do not like visitors, but still there should be a passage possible to circle the globe in most all of the important circle or otherwise shaped lines of power ...

luoma ... with the androids learning constantly to meet not yet imagined or experienced species, qualities, behaviour patterns, it seems like the days will come soon when the last machine will dig out gold and diamonds to end up in crowns and earrings ... and we will find ways to bring some of it back to mother earth and behave in a manner what will aid her nearly or even more than what the minerals and metals are doing for her ...

nilai... you say, that we multispecies bathed and evolved humans together with the androids will be like the diamonds and gold and silver and iron for our mother earth, we will vibrate towards her in assistance of the great task to dance all together in most satisfying and life honoring swirls and turns, twitches and bends
